Some of you already suspected that, but it is official, Cesare came to brighten our lives. E' was born 16/8/2015 at 0.47 for 3790 grams and 53cm of length! What would be called in roma: Un bel pupo ;) As most of you know, being parents takes a lot of time; in our case all that usually is done in years of life together, we did in few months: we knew eachother, got married and received the gift of a healthy boy, Cesare. In the short time in which we did everything we could not let all of you participate to our joyfulness, and this made us sad. As of now, we have taken all we need for our family life, just because of the short times. Whoever would like to participate with a small present for cesare and our new family life, we please you to do this sending us money on my paypal account (my personal email, for those who don't know it I will write on facebook), or, for people having a EU bank account, on the following IBAN: IT96P36000032000CA006644692 Thanks in advance for your kind contribution!
